They are at home, and any one who has doubts can is uire of the person who have been cured by it.

DB. KEYSER IS PREPARED AT ANY TIME TO EXAMINE LUNGS WITHOUT CHARGE, FOR ALL PHOSE WHO NEED HIS MEDICINES.

DR. KEYERS:—My wife has been afflicted with a bad cough and difficulty of breathing, for five or six years, which, for several years back, had gradually increased in violence. The complaint has been hereditary, and she had been treated by several physicians without any relief. In this state of her case, I procured some of your Pectoral Gough Syrup. I bought, the first time, a fifty cent bottle, which relieved her very much; I then called and got a dollar bottle, which cared her entirely, and she has now no trace of the former disease, except weakness. I would also state that I used the medicine myself to a cold and cough. The medicine cured me by taking one dose I express my entire satisfaction with the medicine, and you are at liberty to publish this if you desire to do so.

Alderman Fifth Ward.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 18, 1858. Dr. Keyers:—Although not an advocate of Patent Medicines, in general, it afords me pleasure indescribable to recommend your Pectoral Syrup. As a medicine it is well worthy the attention of any person who may in any manner be afflicted with coughs, colds and hoarseness of any-kind, and for the peculiar qualifications for removing all that disagreeable sensation attending a severe cold.

I have been, more or less, in my life, affected with the severest of colds and hoarseness. At times my throat would become so closed as to prevent my speaking above would become so closed as to prevent my speaking above a whisper, and by taking a few doses of the above Syrup it would relieve me entirely. me entirely. ling this medicine, I must unhestiatingly In recommending this medicine, I must unhestiatingly say that it is the best remedy I ever found, purporting to cure the above, nor should any family be without this remedy for diseases so prevalent.

COL. PRATT AND DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP.—DR. KEYSER—Dear Sir. Excuse the delay of my acknowledging the excellence of your Pectoral Cough Syrup sooner. I take great pleasure in saying that it is all you say it is. Henceked the noise out of my cough and the worst one I was ever afflicted with: I have not used more than one-half of the bottle, and I can and do wish that all who are afflicted would give it as fair a trial as I have done, and they will be proud to say, "It is no quack medicine." I would not suffer another such an attack for any consideration, or at any cost. I am confident I can breathe more freely than I ever did. I shall always acknowledge a debt of gratitude for inventing so excellent a remedy. You are at liberty to use my name in this regard, as you think proper E. F. PRATT.

REMARKS OF MR. STERS, IN THE OHIO HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, FEB. 27TH, 1861, UPON THE AMENDMENT OF MR. HUTCHESON, OF MADISON, TO H. B. NO. 350, BY MR. SHAW—A BILL TO PREVENT GIVING AID TO FUGITIVE SLAVES.

PREVENT GIVING AID TO FUGITIVE SLAVES.

MR. SPEAKER:—Instruct as a wide range has been given to the subject now under consideration, I hope the House will indulge me for the brief space of time I stati consume. When this bill was first brought up, I concluded to say not a word upon it; but, sir, it seems that the perilous condition of the country imperatively demands that every man upon this floor, and elsewhere should speak out boldly, and let the country know where he stands. This glorious Union of ours, cemented by the blood of our fathers, is threatened with disruption—it is severed. This Republic, which has been regarded as the model Republic, which has been regarded as the model of the civilized world—this land of the remainder of the country in the seems to forget that all traitors do not live in the South, nor all particious in the North. In attempting to store yourselves, you have defantly propounded the question, What have to dene? Allow me to turn Yankee and answer the question by asking another: What have to dene? Allow me to turn Yankee and answer the question by asking another: What have to dene? Allow me to turn Yankee and answer the question by asking another: What have to dene? Allow me to turn Yankee and answer the question by asking another: What have to dene? Allow me to turn Yankee and answer the question by asking another: What have to dene? Allow me to turn Yankee and answer the question of the Constitution of a plain provision of the Constitution of a plain provision of the Constitution litelf? What mean those personal liberty laws, passed, I believe, by no less than ten States of the North? One of these States have remained to down the Governm ATTEND TO YOUR COLDS -A case of five years' tanding cured by DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP. government of the civilized world—this land of civil and religious freedom—this land of law and order-this land of science and learning, is drifting to-God only knows where. What brought about all this? Ah, that's the question. I propose, Mr. Speaker, to give some of my views upon this subject.

Fanaticism, wherever itexists, produces evil, and the evil is proportionate to the magnitude of the principle which produces it. The evil with which our country is at present threat-ened had its origin with the Abolitioniats of the North. For some time that element had but little influence, hence it did but little harm; but as it increased, our troubles increased, until they have attained their present magnitude.

The Presidential campaign of 1852 witnessed the last struggle and defeat of the old Whig party. That party was then disbanded, and upon its ruins was reared the present Republican party, or the old Abolition party modified, and but alightly modified at that. The avowed object of this party was, and has always been, to wage a war of extermination on slavery; to array one portion of the country in deadly hate against the interests and institutions of another; a party with so little soul in it as not to embrace the interests of the entire country, but only a part of it. Instead of strengthening the bonds of Union, they have tried how far they could stretch them. It must be evident to every reflecting mind that, when such a party gets the ascendency in the Government, it must bring with it as its own leaving as results discording with it, as its own legitimate results, discord and disunion. That party has triumphed, and this day the country is reaping its bitter fruits.

From the very hour of its success, disunion began. Republican gentlemen on this floor disclaim the idea of meddling with slavery where it exists by law. I am glad to hear such declarations, and more glad to believe that they are honest and sincere. They speak the sentiments of a large portion of their party—the conserva-tive wing, and I would that that portion was much stronger and more powerful than it is; but many of their leaders, the men who to a great extent make their platforms and their literature, and control their actions, are of the Irrepressible

A WONDERFUL OURE.—Some time ago, an old neighbor of mine was very ill, with a bad cough which every one supposed to be consumption. His relatives told me that he had taken every remedy thay head of without benefit; his brother came to see him die, and all were confirmed in the belief that he could not live. I had about the third of a bottle of your Pectaral Syrup, which I gave him, and it entirely cured him, to the astorishment of all. What makes the case more remarkable, is the extreme age of the man, he being about eighty years old. I have no doubt the Pectoral saved his life.

ANOTHER NEW CERTIFICATE—DR. KEYBER'S PECTORAL SYRUP.—I had been troubled with acough and cold for several weeks—so bad was it that I sould not sleep. I had the advice and prescriptions from three of the bestphysicians in the city, whom I could name; but do not do so. I finally precured a bottle of your Pectoral Syrup, which cured me entirely. Bigned.

"BTOP THAT'COUGHING."—'How can't do it?" "Go to Keyser's on Wood street and get a bottle of the Cough Pectoral, and if that don't cure you, your case must be many politicians of the north engaged in this to the court of the subject, but, on the contrary I have been—ah! and the country now feels to its very or vitals—that the effect of this agitation is evil and only evil, and that continually. Has it a loosed the fetters of a single slave? Except, perhaps, by under-ground railroads, it has run him off to Canada, in that uncongenial climate, and in many cases left the poor wretch in a S. W. BIMONTON, were condition than before. Has it in any way tended to ameliorate the condition of the black man? It has not resulted in any good to the elave himself, and it cannot. Not only have been preceded to ameliorate the condition of the black man? It has not resulted in any good to the elave himself, and it cannot. Not only have many politicians of the north engaged in this "BTOP THATCOUGHING."—How can I do it?" "Go to Keyser's on Wood street and get a bottle of his Cough Petorsal, and if that don't cure you, your case must be desperate indeed." This is a specimen of the colloquy one hears almost every day in cold catching periods of the year. And we can, from actual experiment, cheer fully concur in the advicer's admonttion as above, for we have tried the "Petorsal," in a most subborn case, with entire success. Near two weeks ago we went to Pittsburgh, with one of the most distressing, contrary, mulish, un subduable coughs we ever experienced since our advent upon this mundane sphere. We coughed steadily and laboriously for one whole week, in hopes of the first of the sing of the sing, than of the sins of their neighbors, with which they have nothing to don't be sing, which is sege, we coughed our way to Keyser's, 140 Wood St.

—procured a fifty cent bottle of the "Petoral," took it seemed after a brief but unequal conflict with so formidable an adversary as Keyser's famous "Cough Petoral,"—Drocensville Olipper, Dec. 14, 1859.

Worne contention to resulted in any good to the tended to ameliorate the condition of the black man? It has not tended to ameliorate the condition of the black the slave himself, and it has not. counterpart. So far from any good being accomplished by Abolition fanaticism in abusing the Southern people, you have not only made them more tenacious of their rights, as they understand them, more rigid in the government of their slaves, and less disposed than ever before to emancipation, but you have incurred their ill will, yea, their actual hatred. The venerable gentleman from Cincinnati (Mr. Jonas), told us the other day that our neighboring State of Kentucky was on the eve at one time of emancipating her slaves. Good reasons exist to warrant the belief that this dealrable object would have been attained, but for the unreasonable and unjustifiable course of Northern fanation, in attempting to drive the people of the South to take that step. Sir, you cannot drive men into measures; you must allow them to go of their own accord, if they go at all. Slavery, to-day, would be less rigid, and the people more disposed to conservatism, had they been attempting to drive the people of the South to take that step. And, sir, in my humble opinion, if the present difficulties of the country were fally and fairly submitted to, and committed into the hands of the great American people, North and South, the danger that threatens the Union would be averted. But I am digressing.

I have no sympathy for extremists, either North or South. I believe this seccession movement in the South is all wrong. I speak my own sentiments irrespective of party preference. The Constituand prospered, and to which we are indebted for all the political blessing we enjoy as a peo-ple, was the result of compromises. The polit-ical storms which arose and threatened the des-truction of the Union in 1820 and in 1850 were allayed by compromise and mutual concession. Our patriotic fathers, who calmed the wrathful thought it no dishonor to lay their personal and party feelings upon the altar of their country. Let us imitate their example. The main strength of the bands of Union does not exist in standing armies, nor solely in written constitutions and laws but in the virtue, together by musket and bayonets is no Union at all. The main strength of the bands of Union does not exist in standing armies, nor solely in written constitutions and laws but in the virtue, fidelity and hearts of the American people.

The times require us to act like patriots, not partisans. Party platforms and party opinions are as but dust in the balance, compared to the perpetuity of the Union. For one, I am willing to sacrifice every vestige of party principle, if it come in the way of an honorable and peaceful adjustment. No sacrifice should be too great to make for our country. Shall these blessed institutions, purchased by the blood of our fathers, pass out of our hands? Shall the blood of Bunker Hill, of Brandywine, and Yorktown, be ahed in vain? God forbid. Shall this boasted land of liberty—this pillar of the world's future hope of freedom—be crushed to earth to rise no more? No, no, no.

"Truth crushed to earth will rise again; The ctarnal years of God are hers."

Who can contemplate the horrors of a civil

Who can contemplate the horrors of a civil war, such as ours must be, without feeling his flesh creep upon his bones? Its character must be such as no historian has ever yet recorded.

The history of the Tudors and Plantagenets of York and Laneaster, yea, and all the factions that have ever contended in Europe, would contain that have ever contended in Europe, would contain that have ever contended in Europe, would contain the contended by the contended in Europe. that have ever contended in Europe, would constitute but a tinted page, compared with our own downfall and consequences. Instead of our temples of religion, education and anuscement, we will have mosted bastiles and garrisons for standing armices. Instead of the busy hum of happy peace, we will hear the clash and conflict of arms, the dashing tramp of the war-stead, the roar of cannon, the screams of the wounded and the moans of the dying. Instead of our valleys yielding the reward of quiet industry, and our hill-sides odorous with the blooming with the bonce of kindred and companions. If "Freedom shrieked when Kosciusco fell," when "Freedom shrieked when Kosciusco fell," when this Republic shall fall, if fall it must, "Freedom, sighing from her seat through all her works, will give eigns of wo that all is lost."— The beautiful though melancholy lines I of Moore will then be appropriate to your medita-

"The Harp that once through Tara's halfs The soul of music shed. Now hangs as muse as Tara's walls, As if that soul were fied.

No more to chiefs and ladies bright, The Harp of Tara swells; The chord that breaks alone at night,] Its tale of ruin tells. Thus freedom now so seldom wakes.
The only throb she gives
Is when some heart indignant breaks,
To show that still she lives."

But it must not, it cannot be. Though the But it must not, it cannot be. Though the clouds of our national horizon seem dark and fandangoes, are places good enough, it would seem, for those commissioned by Heaven to proclaim peace on earth and good will to man.—
Has it indeed some to this! Whither are we tending?

I have before intimated, Mr. Speaker, that one extreme produces another—it must have its counterpart. So far from any good being accompilated by Abolition fanaticism in abusing the Southern people, you have not only made.
